Library in Room 19

Foreword

The Loew-Alumni Library, which is the most recent building project of our campus had its beginning back in the early days of the college.

Known previously as Central College, the college had its first semblance of a library in Room 19 of the Administration Building, or what is now known as the education room. However, due to the limited area of the "library," the books and other materials were moved into the large room occupied now by the Public Relations Personnel and the Business Office. Around 1915, according to records available concerning the library at this time, there were approximately 1100 volumes in the entire library.

In the summer of 1933 the contents of the library were once again moved, this time into the rooms which are now Seminary classrooms. This one large room served the purpose of a combined periodical, reference, reserve, and reading room.

It was not until 1938 that the book shelves were moved from the reading room into what now are English room and offices. This made possible more efficient service to the students and teachers, and relieved the librarian of routine work which could be turned over to a student assistant. Did you know that once, a very long time ago, these rooms were the "laboratory" in which several classes of domestic science were taught?

Moving into these rooms not only made a more convenient place in which students could study, but also made the "atmosphere" much more conducive to study than the cramped quarters of the room on the first floor. Better lighting and increased table space encouraged the daily use of the library for study by a larger number of students.

By 1939 the number of volumes had increased to 13,600, and the results of a city-wide canvass, first begun in 1936, afforded 4,300 additional volumes to the library that year. Now, we proudly boast 16,870 volumes in our library, plus many bound magazines and government documents. Also, there are two library committees, a student committee and a faculty committee, which aid in the selection of books to be added to the library.

In a report submitted by Librarian Mrs. Margaret M. Cook Jones, in the spring of 1941, a request was made for a new library building, due to the fact that the existing facilities were being rapidly outgrown. At the suggestion of Dr. Elmer Becker, President of Huntington College, to the late Dr. F. A. Loew, then President of the Alumni Association, the organization undertook this as a project. The cornerstone of the proposed building was laid in 1947, and work was begun on the new project.

Library in Business Office and Public Relations Room

By the spring of 1948, however, the work on the library was discontinued, necessitated by the fact that the project was being financed on a cash basis, and the reserve supply had been exhausted.

Hence, for a period of about three years Huntington College students viewed a structure which everyone declared would be a library someday, but which bore little or no resemblance to the promised building.

Then, in November of 1951, the campus became once again a beehive for the contractors, and work on the library was resumed. And, as this goes to press, we are able to use a portion of the building as temporary quarters until the rest can be completed. Much of the credit of moving to the new building and getting settled is due Miss E. Faye Connor, college librarian since 1944.

The portion which will be used first will be the reserve and reference room, the librarian's office and vault, the repair and shipping room, plus a large 30'x70' reading room.

Eventually the entire use of the new building will afford, in addition to the features already mentioned, triple the stack capacity, several carrels on the main floor, conference rooms, and an Alumni office. Special features of the new project include indirect lighting, modern rest rooms, thermostatically controlled heating, partially sound-proof rooms, and outside bulletin boards.

When the complete building is ready, a dedication of the entire structure will be given. So far, $110,000 has been contracted and spent, and the insurance estimate currently is valued at $146,700.

We as students are happy and proud of our new library, and we realize it is through the work and giving of you Alumni that this building was made possible for us to enjoy. We would like to take this medium to say thank you to you from the student body here at our Huntington College.

Dedication

We of the staff are proud to dedicate this issue of the Mnemosyne to Dr. Burkholder, an energetic and conscientious pastor, a competent and efficient Dean of the Seminary, an untiring and inspirational president of the Alumni Association, a patient and thorough teacher, and a sincere and friendly Christian example.

Books are the windows through which the soul looks out.

CAMPUS SCENES

Dr. Elmer Becker

President

One of the busiest persons at Huntington College is its president, Dr. Elmer Becker, who has the responsibility of keeping all the machinery of the college running smoothly.

Students and faculty alike appreciate Dr. Becker's friendly smile and helping attitude. Although his tasks are many, he always has time to counsel with anyone who desires it.

His faith in God is an inspiration to all who know him.

Seniors

Henry Buchholz .....President
Thomas Glenn .....Vice-President
Nellie Birdsall .....Secretary
Robert Hershiser .....Treasurer

The Senior class spent a very busy year under the direction of its president, Hank Buchholz.

One of the highlights of the year was the annual "Skip Day." This year the class decided to take a jaunt to southern Indiana. The group left early Friday morning, May 8, and stopped at the Lincoln Hotel in Indianapolis for lunch. Then they went on a guided tour of the campus of the University of Indiana at Bloomington. On Saturday morning a trip was made to a coal mine, which proved to be interesting to everyone. The group returned to Huntington Saturday evening after a brief but enjoyable vacation.

As a memorial the class put up signs at the city limits on the main roads coming into Huntington. These signs inform all incoming traffic that Huntington is the home of Huntington College. Also signs were put up pointing the way to the campus.

Of course the most memorable day of the year was June 9, when each member of the Senior class received the degree for which he had put in so much time and effort. The days spent at H.C. will long be remembered by every Senior.

Who's Who

The three seniors pictured here were recommended by the faculty and senior class of Huntington College for recognition in the 1952-53 Edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

The students honored in this annual publication are nominated from approximately 650 colleges and universities. In nominating a student, the factors to be taken into consideration are the student's scholarship, his cooperation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, his citizenship and service to the school, and his promise of future usefulness. If the nomination is accepted by this international organization the student becomes one of its members.

Each student who becomes a member receives without cost a certificate of recognition awarded by the organization and presented at the school; recognition in the annual publication; for the year during which he was selected, in the form of a write-up of his college and personal record and a listing in the Index under the college from which he was nominated; and benefits of the Student Placement Service provided by the organization if he needs assistance in making employment contacts or supplying other recommendations.

The main purpose of the Theological Seminary is to assist all young people who are seeking instruction and training for Christian service. This program seeks to deepen and enrich the spiritual life of each student, emphasize and strengthen the divine call to special service in the church, acquaint the minister with sound Christian doctrine and establish it, develop able ministers of the gospel with ability to apply divine truth to modern problems, and to prepare a Christian leadership in the best methods of evangelism and church extension.

The smallest class in school is an appellative which may be misleading. This year's Junior class with six girls and twenty-one boys comes under this classification but they are quick to point out that their twenty-seven members are the result of a two-year weeding out process which has left the cream of an original field of eighty-five freshmen.

The first big project of the year was the annual Junior Penny Supper. The event was so successful that later in the year another similar project, a Ham Supper, was staged.

The Junior-Senior Reception in May topped off the activities of the class for the school year.

The next big step is the advent to the top seats in the school which will be vacated by this year's graduating class. The class will welcome its Senior year with a mixed feeling of anticipation and sadness, realizing that the time grows ever nearer when it will have to leave the comfortable halls of dear old Huntington for the cold arms of a cruel world.

Mr. Bealer and Mr. Muck were the Junior class advisors.

Twenty-eight boys and fifteen girls survived the rigors of a freshman year and returned to Huntington College to comprise this year's Sophomore class.

The activities of the class commenced on a note of revenge. An unsettled score concerning last year's freshmen initiation day was evened up—well, partially—the girls won their tug-o-war at least. What the boys didn't do in their tug-o-war they made up for in another way. The tired and sleepy freshmen boys who straggled in at the wee hours of the morning will bear witness to this.

The class decided on a rather unique, if unimaginative, class project. Each member put in four hours of work somewhere and then turned the money earned over to the class treasury.

Dorothy Campbell provided the boost in the class ego for the year as she represented the sophs in the Queen's court at the basketball Homecoming game.

Robert Paine and Edna Shipley were the class sponsors.

A more enthusiastic Freshman class than this year's crop of H.C. "greenies" would be hard to find.

From the very start the class attitude was evident—girls as well as boys out on the campus playing softball. This co-operative spirit was borne out throughout the rest of the school year. Six freshman boys were included among the first twelve members of the varsity basketball team. Both cheer-leaders were freshman girls, Barbara Henry and Eileen Poling. And, although the class enrollment was one of the smallest in years—26 girls and 29 boys—the various school organizations were sprinkled liberally with "greenies" as each member belonged to at least one organization.

The school year commenced with a "get-acquainted" party for freshmen only which included an ice cream freeze.

Early morning walks in the country for the boys and cold showers for the girls attested to the interest that the upper classmen were beginning to show in the class.

The class project brought out the salesmanship talent in the class. T-shirts and sweat shirts were the items sold and the result was a healthy injection in the class treasury.

The nomination and election of Eileen Poling as Homecoming Queen of the basketball season high-lighted the honors won by class members throughout the year. Another freshman, Barbara Henry, was included in the Queen's court.

Robert Baker and Dr. Burkholder were the class sponsors.

Garden Day

The crowning of Miss Ruth Becker as Huntington College Campus Queen for 1951-1952 was the highlight of the sixteenth annual Garden Day held in the Fred A. Loew Botanical Garden and Arboretum on Saturday afternoon, June 7, 1952. Queen Ruth had the rare privilege of being crowned by her mother, Mrs. Elmer Becker.

A very pretty part of this festive occasion was the winding of the May Pole. Following that the Mixed Choir presented a few musical selections.

Dr. Paul Weatherwax of Indiana University spoke on "Broadening Horizons in Botany."

Alumni

Books was the theme of the 1952 Alumni Banquet held in the Wright Memorial Hall. The speaker for the occasion was the Rev. Duane Reahm of Grand Rapids, Michigan.

Max Lemar, chairman of the awards committee, presented to C. W. H. Bangs the award for the outstanding alumnus of the year.

A little library, growing larger each year, is an honorable part of a man's history.

Student Council

Ed Finley

The interests of the students of Huntington College are ably represented in the Student Council which functions as the executive and administrative body of the Student Union.

The Student Council meets regularly on the second Wednesday of each month and also at other specified times with the President of the Council, Ed Finley, and the faculty advisor, Dr. Musgrave, to discuss current student problems.

This year the Student Council sponsored various activities including the Freshman Day activities, an all-school Christmas party for underprivileged children of the city, the giving of baskets of food to needy families at Christmas time, the annual Homecoming with its enthusiastic campaigning for Homecoming queen, the Washington Banquet, and the Friday morning assembly programs.

By virtue of his office as Student Union president Ed Finley is also president of the Student Council which is made up of the president of each class, four representatives from the Senior class, three from the Junior class, two from the Sophomore class, and one from the Freshman class.

To assist the president, the following officers were elected: Tom Glenn, vice-president; Mildred Birdsall, secretary; Earl Kinney, treasurer; Lois Jean Howard, reporter.

Distributing the '52 Mnemosyne

Mnemosyne

With much delay, the 1953 Mnemosyne finally got underway with the appointment of Virginia Cairl, Editor, and Tom Glenn, Business Manager.

Dal Hammel acted as Assistant Editor. Others assisting in this part of the work by gathering materials were Kathryn Densmore, Mary Lou Funk, Dorothy Gouckenour, Nellie Birdsall, Helen Biehl, Esther Bean, Louise Bentzel, Joann Humbarger, June Litwiller, William Bean, and Herbert Cherry.

Burt Lange was the Assistant Business Manager. Others helping Tom in the business end of the yearbook were Ed Finley, Elaine Safford, Bill Bollinger, Donnell Campbell, Fern Mattson, Ardyce Hoffer, Mildred Birdsall, William Bean, Jean Saufley, Ann Fish, Jim Howald, Earl Thomas, Kathleen Corcoran, Esther Bean, Earl Ensminger, George Harmon and Ruth Horstman.

One of the hardest workers was the advisor, Professor J. Ralph Pfister, who put in much time and effort. His help and patience were greatly appreciated.

Huntingtonian

The Huntingtonian is another organization on campus which serves not only the student body as a whole but also the staff members. The student body gains factual material about events of interest to them as well as material for devotional thought. The staff itself gains much in the way of experience and knowledge of the newspaper world.

During the year, 1952, the staff was headed by Helen Biehl, editor, and Herbert Cassel, business manager. Both students were relatively inexperienced and were aided constantly by Professor Muck, the faculty advisor.

In the editorial department, the editor was aided by a staff which had for its news editor, Burt Lange. Mary Towne served as feature editor while Mildred Birdsall covered the social events. Bill Bean ably handled the devotional material. Every issue was replete with sports information and wit which originated through the joint efforts of Mark Stoffel and Dal Hammel.

During the last half of the year, George Harmon took over the task of managing editor while Burton Weber assumed the position of associate editor.

In the business realm, the business manager was aided by Earl Peters. During the first half of 1952 Roger Carey served as advertising manager with Roger Buzzard filling this capacity for the last half of the year. The circulation department remained in the hands of John Bergdall for the full year.

Much work was done for the paper by the unsung heroes—the reporters—who had to gather material and meet the deadline.

Besides turning out the paper, the staff sponsored a basketball game and a spaghetti supper.

Students who have been called to full-time Christian service in the ministry, mission field, or field of Christian Education find in Clericus an organization to meet their needs. Here those of like purpose gather to hear various problems of Christian service discussed and how others with experience in the particular phase of service under consideration have met their problems. At Clericus meetings something practical is done to aid future Christian leaders in being "approved unto God."

Clericus has undertaken a project which should be of service to the supporting Church and which should bring financial returns to the organization. It is preparing to publish a book called The Directory of Churches of the United Brethren in Christ. It is to contain pictures of all the United Brethren Churches co-operating in the project with the names and addresses of the churches and other significant data.

Officers for the year were: Earl Thomas, president; Herbert Edwards, vice-president; Mary Lou Funk, secretary; Paul Cairl, treasurer.

Gospel Volunteers is an organization for all Christians on campus. It makes its appeal to the students through the wide range of practical Christian work in which it engages. G.V.'s, as it is affectionately called by its members, sponsors the noon-day prayer meetings, jail services every other Saturday night, Gospel teams that present the Gospel in word and song in the various churches of the community, and the tract distribution in the downtown district which has now extended its services with the installation of tract racks in many of the business places of Huntington. These activities, together with the regular monthly meetings have made Gospel Volunteers the largest Christian organization on campus.

The officers for the year were: William Bean, president; Gene Mount, vice-president; Ardyce Hoffer, secretary; John Bergdall, treasurer.

The purpose of the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A. is to build Christians devoted to the task of living in their everyday lives the ideals of personal and social living that their Christian faith prescribes.

The Y's co-sponsor the Y Mixer, the Thanksgiving Banquet, and the Y Retreat. The Y Mixer is held at the beginning of the school year to help everyone get acquainted through recreation, devotion and refreshments. The Thanksgiving Banquet in the fall is an exclusive function open only to the Y members and their guests. The Y Retreat is a day set aside in the spring for physical and spiritual recreation and is an all-school function. This day is generally climaxed with a stirring Galilean service.

The Y. W. sponsors the Big Little Sister Party, the sale of Valentine candy, the sale of peanut crunch, and the annual Y Tea at Livingston Hall.

The officers of the Y. W. are: Mary Lou Funk, president; Kathryn Densmore, vice-president; Jean Sauffley, treasurer; Dorothy Campbell, secretary. The officers of the Y. M. are Gene Kasten, president; Thomas Glenn, vice-president; Vern Sharp, chaplain.

F.T.A.

The Future Teachers of America consists of students who are planning to enter the teaching profession.

The Club has been very busy this year under the leadership of Mr. Coleson, its sponsor. A trip was made to Fort Wayne to attend the State Teacher's Convention early in the year. Later, a group went to the F.T.A. convention in Indianapolis.

Mary Towne served as president of the organization for the year. Kathryn Densmore acted as vice-president and Grace Graham was secretary-treasurer.

Business Club

The Business Club is open to all persons interested in entering the business world.

This year the members heard many interesting speakers from the vicinity who are interested or active in the business world.

Robert Hershiser served as president of the Club with Ronald Long assisting as vice-president, Ann Fish as secretary, and Joyce Batdorff as treasurer.

The Business Club plans a busy and interesting future.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club is an athletic organization on the campus made up of men who have won at least one major athletic letter.

This year the club sponsored an independent basketball tournament in March; the concessions, with the aid of the W.A.A., at the athletic contests; and a vigorous March of Dimes campaign.

The members enjoyed a busy year under the leadership of Mark Hammel as president and Don Hammel as vice-president. Hal Platt handled the financial part of the club in his capacity as treasurer and Dal Hammel was kept busy as secretary of the organization.

The Women's Athletic Association is an organization of women interested in the physical education and athletic fields. The W.A.A. sponsored the girls' basketball team this year. It also packed baskets for underprivileged children. Several social gatherings were held during the year emphasizing interest in the athletic field.

The officers for the group were: Jean Sauffley, president; June Litwiller, vice-president; Ardyce Hoffer, treasurer; and Barbara Henry, secretary. Miss Ziegler is the advisor of the group.

The Fine Arts Club is the only purely cultural organization on the campus. The club this year assisted in planning and carrying through all the projects of the Fine Arts Department of the school. These projects included the Art Exhibit, the Mikado, the Fine Arts Forums, and the three professional concerts. These three concerts were high points in the events of the school year and brought to us noted musicians and vocalists.

Campus Players

The tenth birthday of the dramatic organization of Huntington College finds a capable group of students upholding the interests of its organization.

Throughout the years of its existence Campus Players, which was chartered and organized under the name of Campus Playhouse, has sponsored many one act plays, skits, and readings for programs both at school and in civic activities and has presented the highlight of the Campus Players' year, the annual spring production.

The officers chosen for the year were Mark Stoffel, president; Burt Weber, vice-president; Mildred Birdsall, secretary; Esther Bean, treasurer. Under the direction of Mr. Zurcher and Mr. Schutter this organization has had another successful year in dramatics.

William Yarborough, Director

Mixed Choir

This year the choir, under the expert guidance of Professor Yarborough, was one of Huntington's busiest organizations and one of her chief claims to favorable public recognition, especially in the churches in which it presented its glowing Christian testimony in song on its annual Easter vacation concert tour.

The weekend before vacation marked the choir's fourth consecutive visit to Camp Mack for its annual retreat, and the concert at College Park Church on Palm Sunday evening. The following Thursday saw the beginning of the fifteen-day tour itself, which this year embraced a good sized portion of Ontario, Canada, as well as stops in Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana.

After the last concert at the Hopewell U. B. Church near Grabill, Indiana, twenty-five tired but contented choir members, Professor Yarborough, and Dr. Becker began the "last mile home" after a successful and inspiring two weeks of enjoyable travel and of making ". . . a joyful noise unto the Lord" and coming ". . . before His presence with singing."

Washington Banquet

Friday evening, February 13, 1953, was the time of the annual Washington Banquet. One hundred and thirty students, faculty, alumni and friends attended this banquet held in the Epworth Hall of the local Methodist church.

President Becker introduced the speaker, Dr. Harold C. Mason, who was a former president of Huntington College. Dr. Mason spoke on the theme, "The Land of the Free."

Ed Finley, president of the Student Union, was the toastmaster of this gala occasion. Rev. J. M. Thompson of the Central Christian Church offered the invocation. Also participating in the program were Mr. Donald Johnson, who played a cornet solo, members of Campus Players, who gave a one act patriotic play, and the College Trio, who sang "This is My Country."

In answer to the initial call for basketball issued by Coach Robert Baker in early November thirteen prospective players reported. A pessimist who also was inclined to be superstitious might have forseen in that a very unsuccessful season but hopes and spirits were high. Although the Foresters won only 2 of the 19 games played they did rise to the occasion several times and showed the spirit that marked the teams of old.

Top scorer for the year was center Gene Buzzard, the only returning member of last year's starting five, with an eighteen point average and a total of 345 points. Paul "Pudge" Hammel, a Freshman, won the annual free throw trophy by hitting nearly seventy per cent of his tosses and Senior Mark Hammel was elected team captain by his fellow teammates.

Cheerleaders

On a certain Friday several weeks prior to the first basketball game, the student body elected three students, all freshmen, from its ranks to fulfill the position of cheerleaders. Those three team-spirited and sports-minded individuals were Eileen Poling, Barbara Henry and Robert Pasko. After the first semester the girls were left to carry on alone, as Bob transferred to Olivet College.

Not only did our cheerleaders do what was required of them, but they showed in every way that they really had at heart the interest of the school and the team.

Thanks loads, Eileen and Barb. Your sincere and enthusiastic efforts have not gone unnoticed.

Baseball

Old man weather cancelled the last six outings necessitating that the Huntington College baseball team settle for a two-win, three-loss record. Due chiefly to a 17-2 victory in the season opener H. C. nearly doubled their opponents' season total of runs scored, but because of the copious number of errors, 21, much of the effectiveness of our fine pitching staff was lost.

Our freshmen pitchers, Hal Platt 1-1 and Maurice Reed 1-2, gave up a total of 18 runs on 22 hits and 21 walks while striking out 56—a very commendable job.

The highlights of the season included: the combined three-hitter of Platt and Reed in the opening game; the four consecutive hits, three of which were long triples, also in the first game by shortstop Wehr; the two-hitter at Angola thrown at Tri-State by Reed; and Dal Hammel's game-winning round-tripper against Tri-State.
